

Conversions: Two Family Stories from the Reformation and Modern America (New Directions in Narrative History)

By Craig Harline

Download now

Read Online

Conversions: Two Family Stories from the Reformation and Modern America (New Directions in Narrative History) By Craig Harline

This powerful and innovative work by a gifted cultural historian explores the effects of religious conversion on family relationships, showing how the challenges of the Reformation can offer insight to families facing similarly divisive situations today.

Craig Harline begins with the story of young Jacob Rolandus, the son of a Dutch Reformed preacher, who converted to Catholicism in 1654 and ran away from home, causing his family to disown him. In the companion story, Michael Sunbloom, a young American, leaves his family's religion in 1973 to convert to Mormonism, similarly upsetting his distraught parents. The modern twist to Michael's story is his realization that he is gay, causing him to leave his new church, and upsetting his parents again—but this time the family reconciles.

Recounting these stories in short, alternating chapters, Harline underscores the parallel aspects of the two far-flung families. Despite different outcomes and forms, their situations involve nearly identical dynamics and heart-wrenching choices. Through the author's deeply informed imagination, the experiences of a seventeenth-century European family are transformed into immediately recognizable terms.

 Download Conversions: Two Family Stories from the Reformati ...pdf

 Read Online Conversions: Two Family Stories from the Reforma ...pdf

Conversions: Two Family Stories from the Reformation and Modern America (New Directions in Narrative History)

By Craig Harline

Conversions: Two Family Stories from the Reformation and Modern America (New Directions in Narrative History) By Craig Harline

This powerful and innovative work by a gifted cultural historian explores the effects of religious conversion on family relationships, showing how the challenges of the Reformation can offer insight to families facing similarly divisive situations today.

Craig Harline begins with the story of young Jacob Rolandus, the son of a Dutch Reformed preacher, who converted to Catholicism in 1654 and ran away from home, causing his family to disown him. In the companion story, Michael Sunbloom, a young American, leaves his family's religion in 1973 to convert to Mormonism, similarly upsetting his distraught parents. The modern twist to Michael's story is his realization that he is gay, causing him to leave his new church, and upsetting his parents again—but this time the family reconciles.

Recounting these stories in short, alternating chapters, Harline underscores the parallel aspects of the two far-flung families. Despite different outcomes and forms, their situations involve nearly identical dynamics and heart-wrenching choices. Through the author's deeply informed imagination, the experiences of a seventeenth-century European family are transformed into immediately recognizable terms.

Conversions: Two Family Stories from the Reformation and Modern America (New Directions in Narrative History) By Craig Harline Bibliography

- Sales Rank: #2007922 in Books
- Published on: 2011-09-15
- Original language: English
- Number of items: 1
- Dimensions: 9.25" h x 1.06" w x 6.13" l, 1.37 pounds
- Binding: Hardcover
- 320 pages

 Download Conversions: Two Family Stories from the Reformati ...pdf

 Read Online Conversions: Two Family Stories from the Reforma ...pdf

Download and Read Free Online Conversions: Two Family Stories from the Reformation and Modern America (New Directions in Narrative History) By Craig Harline

---

Editorial Review

Review

“Compelling . . . A beautiful book, illuminating in a time when almost half of Americans report switching religions.”—Publishers Weekly (starred review)
(Publishers Weekly)

“An absorbing, creative book... it will definitely become a go-to book for readers interested in the history and psychology of conversion.”—Lauren Winner, author of Girl Meets God: A Memoir (Lauren Winner)

“An unexpected joy. . . . A compelling, insightful examination. . . . Conversions is a journey well worth taking.”—Gerald S. Argetsinger, Affirmation.org
(Gerald S. Argetsinger Affirmation.org)

“Will appeal to lovers of history, Christians, and religious enthusiasts alike.”—Rhett Wilkinson, Deseret News
(Rhett Wilkinson Deseret News)

“Once I started, I could not put it down. It is hugely compelling. All the narrative skills which are so apparent in Harline’s earlier work are now bent towards a purpose which shows what history is for: illuminating present concerns through wise, informed, and serious reflection upon the past. A superb, important book.”—Diarmaid MacCulloch, author of Christianity: The First Three Thousand Years
(Diarmaid MacCulloch)

“We are pleased to add Craig Harline’s remarkable book Conversions to Yale University Press’s series New Directions in Narrative History. This bold work builds on Harline’s deep knowledge of early modern Europe to forge powerful connections with events and people close to the present—all in the service of exploring themes of trans-historical significance. The focus moves, in alternating sequence, between two compelling personal stories. The first is that of a young 17th-century Dutchman, in the process of converting from Protestantism to Catholicism. The second follows a 20th-century American, moving in and out of Mormonism while passing at the same time from straight to gay life-ways. Though manifestly different in surface particulars, they are profoundly linked by underlying concerns with family and community tensions and with the puzzle of personal identity. Harline’s gifts as a writer enable him to describe, to evoke, to analyze, in seamless combination. Readers will be moved not only by his portrayal of the main characters; they will feel as well the tremors of connection to their own lives.”—John Demos (Yale University) and Aaron Sachs (Cornell University), Series Editors
(John Demos and Aaron Sachs)

“I have never seen put more clearly or potently the divisions that occur in families because of religious differences. Conversions is great storytelling, combining history and heart in a splendid, remarkable way.”—Carol Lynn Pearson, author of Goodbye, I Love You
(Carol Lynn Pearson)

“Though every inch a professional historian, Harline writes accessibly, personally when appropriate, and so vitally overall that those he writes about become near-tangibly human.”—Ray Olson, Booklist

(Ray Olson Booklist)

“A beautiful and moving book. Harline is a master at narrative and at making the most painstaking research look effortless. These two unconnected stories required very different approaches, yet Harline's writing binds them together with an odd, yet arresting symmetry, overflowing with integrity and insight.”—Carlos Eire, Yale University
(Carlos Eire)

“Eloquent . . . fascinating and relevant . . . The narrative is fluid and readable, and I had trouble putting the text down.”—Ben Park, Juvenile Instructor
(Ben Park Juvenile Instructor)

“Highly readable and in many ways fascinating.”—Catholic Sentinel
(Catholic Sentinel)

“This creative, engaging work shows why history matters and invites readers to learn from the past. It deserves a wide readership.”—A.W. Klink, Choice
(A.W. Klink Choice)

Finalist for the 2012 Mark Lynton History Prize sponsored by the Lukas Prize Project at Columbia’s Graduate School of Journalism and the Nieman Foundation for Journalism at Harvard. The Lynton History Prize is awarded to a book length work of history on any topic that best combines intellectual distinction with felicity of expression.

(The Mark Lynton History Prize Columbia Journalism School/Harvard's Nieman Foundation for Journalism 2012-03-13)

“In its most gripping passages Conversions is as captivating as a well-written novel. . . insightful and eloquent.”—Christopher D. Cantwell, Journal of Religion
(Christopher D. Cantwell Journal of Religion)

About the Author

Craig Harline is professor of history at Brigham Young University.

Users Review

From reader reviews:

Douglas Reece:

Nowadays reading books be than want or need but also turn into a life style. This reading routine give you lot of advantages. The benefits you got of course the knowledge the particular information inside the book in which improve your knowledge and information. The data you get based on what kind of publication you read, if you want send more knowledge just go with training books but if you want really feel happy read one together with theme for entertaining such as comic or novel. The Conversions: Two Family Stories from the Reformation and Modern America (New Directions in Narrative History) is kind of publication which is giving the reader capricious experience.

Tiffany Hassell:

Reading a book tends to be new life style on this era globalization. With studying you can get a lot of information which will give you benefit in your life. Having book everyone in this world may share their idea. Textbooks can also inspire a lot of people. Plenty of author can inspire their own reader with their story or their experience. Not only the storyplot that share in the books. But also they write about the data about something that you need example. How to get the good score toefl, or how to teach your young ones, there are many kinds of book which exist now. The authors in this world always try to improve their ability in writing, they also doing some investigation before they write with their book. One of them is this Conversions: Two Family Stories from the Reformation and Modern America (New Directions in Narrative History).

Sandra Byrom:

People live in this new time of lifestyle always aim to and must have the time or they will get large amount of stress from both way of life and work. So , when we ask do people have free time, we will say absolutely indeed. People is human not really a huge robot. Then we inquire again, what kind of activity have you got when the spare time coming to anyone of course your answer will certainly unlimited right. Then do you ever try this one, reading books. It can be your alternative throughout spending your spare time, the book you have read will be Conversions: Two Family Stories from the Reformation and Modern America (New Directions in Narrative History).

Jackie Thompson:

Do you have something that you want such as book? The publication lovers usually prefer to pick book like comic, short story and the biggest you are novel. Now, why not striving Conversions: Two Family Stories from the Reformation and Modern America (New Directions in Narrative History) that give your fun preference will be satisfied by means of reading this book. Reading addiction all over the world can be said as the method for people to know world a great deal better then how they react in the direction of the world. It can't be claimed constantly that reading habit only for the geeky man or woman but for all of you who wants to always be success person. So , for all of you who want to start reading through as your good habit, you may pick Conversions: Two Family Stories from the Reformation and Modern America (New Directions in Narrative History) become your starter.

Download and Read Online Conversions: Two Family Stories from the Reformation and Modern America (New Directions in Narrative History) By Craig Harline #ZO21MGV5WCB

Read Conversions: Two Family Stories from the Reformation and Modern America (New Directions in Narrative History) By Craig Harline for online ebook

Conversions: Two Family Stories from the Reformation and Modern America (New Directions in Narrative History) By Craig Harline Free PDF d0wnl0ad, audio books, books to read, good books to read, cheap books, good books, online books, books online, book reviews epub, read books online, books to read online, online library, greatbooks to read, PDF best books to read, top books to read Conversions: Two Family Stories from the Reformation and Modern America (New Directions in Narrative History) By Craig Harline books to read online.

Online Conversions: Two Family Stories from the Reformation and Modern America (New Directions in Narrative History) By Craig Harline ebook PDF download

Conversions: Two Family Stories from the Reformation and Modern America (New Directions in Narrative History) By Craig Harline Doc

Conversions: Two Family Stories from the Reformation and Modern America (New Directions in Narrative History) By Craig Harline MobiPocket

Conversions: Two Family Stories from the Reformation and Modern America (New Directions in Narrative History) By Craig Harline EPub

ZO21MGV5WCB: Conversions: Two Family Stories from the Reformation and Modern America (New Directions in Narrative History) By Craig Harline