"First review I'm ever writing for Amazon - It's safe to say this book is like none of the other ones I read...after watching the market for two years and failing, this book told me why I was failing for the entire two years.

From the Author

Why Did I Write This Book?

I believe that this book can improve the quality of life for many of its readers, even if they aren't involved in professional trading. I believe that everyone should become familiar with, and take advantage of, the stock exchange to the best of his or her ability. I believe that even if you don't trade, you'll still be able to learn, and avoid the capital market's dangers that can easily ambush you. I believe that in our current economic reality, every person must hold a second profession, because you can never know when one of them will become useless. I also believe it is our obligation to make the best use of our advantage over the average investor attempting to profit from the stock exchange without any knowledge or experience.

I believe we all deserve to enjoy this short life we have on earth. I derive great pleasure from a successful day of trading and believe I can help you get that feeling, too. It brings me great joy to hear a graduate of my course tell me about his or her successes. That's where my realization and gratification lie, and that's my proud signature on the history of trading. My returns are the satisfaction and pleasure you get from your success.

Once you've become successful, email me and make my day!
